

FORMER ALLIES NOW IN BITTER STRUGGLE

WAR BETWEEN SERBIA AND BULGARIA CONTINUES WITH INCREASING ANIMOSITY.

PLAN NO INTERVENTION

Powers Will Refrain From Interference in Latest Eastern War While Turkey Will Also Remain Neutral.

Vienna, Austria, July 5.—Desperate fighting has been going on between the Bulgarians and Serbians since yesterday near the Veleza (Koprivica) according to a Sofia correspondent of the N. D. U. E. free press. He says the Bulgarians, troops repulsed the Serbian southern wing with heavy losses and expect to occupy Veleza shortly.

The same correspondent telegraphed that a great battle extending over an area of fifty miles is being fought north of Salonica where 80,000 Greeks are opposing 100,000 Serbians. The Bulgarians had made minor attacks since last Monday with the object of inducing the Greeks to take the offensive.

The result of the battle is expected to be a decisive factor in the Greek and Bulgarian campaign. There is a struggle of the Bulgarian commanders to force the Greeks to abandon several positions near Salonica.

The Greeks are now threatened by an outflanking attack column of 300,000 advancing south from Thessalonica.

Bulgarians Take Town.—Bulgarian troops have attacked Zayetchar, a Serbian frontier town, according to reports just received here. A serious engagement is expected during the day. The newspapers state that the Bulgarian troops have been driven from the fortified positions they have taken up to the left banks of the River Brezgalnitsa and Zhelezitsa after their first defeat. Large numbers of prisoners were taken by the Serbians.

Peace Is Impossible.—London, Eng., July 5.—A disgraceful incident marked the arrival in Belgrade today of 1384 Bulgarian prisoners of war according to a special dispatch from the Serbian capital. The prisoners were marched through the streets in the presence of immense crowds of Serbians who closed in, hounding with abuse and loaded with wounded, lying three deep, many of them apparently dying. Even this did not stop the enthusiastic outbursts of the mob and the correspondents add that peace between the two nations is impossible after this.

Plan No Intervention.—London, July 5.—Although no change of view has taken place between the European powers it is understood there will be no intervention in the Balkan conflict and the belligerents will be left to fight out their quarrels as was the case during the recent Turkish war.

Turkey Remains Neutral.—Vienna, July 5.—It is announced here from an unofficial source that Turkey had agreed to remain neutral in the Balkan conflict in return for the concession made by Bulgaria in connection with the war indemnity.

Greeks Win Victory.—Saloniki, July 5.—The Greek troops today captured from the Bulgarians the small town of Kresna, near Saloniki and Serres. It is considered the most important position in the vicinity and the key to Serres which lies about twenty miles to the north-east. The losses on both sides were considerable.

TROOPS IN ATTACK ON AFRICAN MINERS

Bloody Riots Accompany Strike in Rand Gold Fields With British Cavalry Much in Evidence.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Johannesburg, South Africa, July 5.—Bloody riots accompanied the general strike of gold miners in the Rand, which caused the death of four civilians and wounded fifty others in the fight yesterday between the rioters and the troops, continued throughout the night.

At midnight a mob looted a gunsmith's store and firing became general. Swords of the cavalry were drawn and the streets were patrolled by armed troops. Riots of holes who constantly collected again to loot the store and to destroy the electric lamps, the light from which helped the troops to discover the disturbers' whereabouts.

Bringing was incessant for hours after midnight, during which time the rioting increased and many further casualties occurred, but it was impossible to obtain definite details. There were repeated cavalry charges accompanied by the firing of rifles and the wild confusion and the rushing hither and thither of the excited crowds.

All this took place in virtual darkness, while constantly flitting to and fro were ambulances and red cross wagons, which gave the impression that serious accidents were taking place.

It was easily possible under these conditions to exaggerate the number of casualties and the damage done. The police and troops showed great restraint throughout the affair.

BOY ATTACKS GIRL WITH A REVOLVER

Apparently Insane Youth Beats Her Inseparably After Failing to Shoot Her With Weapon.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chippewa Falls, July 5.—Raymond Stork, eighteen years old, is in jail here today charged with entering the home of Roderick McPhee, the next door neighbor, early today, going to a bedroom occupied by McPhee's three daughters and attacking Miss Manretta with a .38-caliber revolver. It is claimed that he attempted to shoot the girl, but was unable to do so because of the refusal of the revolver to fire. He then turned the gun and beat her over the head until she was insensible. The other two girls ran from the room and aroused their parents. Stork escaped and barricaded himself in his father's barn where he was later captured by police. He is believed to be insane. It is thought the girl will die.

AURORA GIRL DIES FIREWORKS VICTIM

Beautiful Daughter of Retired Merchant Killed When 'Rocket Falls Piercing Her Breast.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Aurora, Ill., July 5.—A beautiful young woman, Miss Julia E. Minot, 20 years old, daughter of J. E. Minot, a wealthy retired merchant was killed in a premature explosion of fire works late last night just as the curtain dropped on a three days' home coming celebration.

The explosion, which brought death to Miss Minot occurred on the New York street bridge, along span crossing the Fox river at its widest part, a half mile stretch. Thousands were watching the bridge, when the fire works which lay on a platform attached to a top girder, began an unexpected tremendous flutter which almost immediately followed a great rush from out of which streams of fire and hissing snakes and rockets and popping Roman candles leaped and shot away in terribly beautiful lines. Not one of the thousands on the bridge, however, suffering minor hurt although some were on an island in the river about 500 feet away and was killed by one of the myriads of wild shooting sky rockets, penetrating her breast. She died several hours later.

HAPPY DAYS PASSED BY ROYAL CHILDREN

Son and Three Small Daughters of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of Italy Contended.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Rome, July 5.—Whatever the future may hold of sorrow or joy for the royal family, the son and three small daughters of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena will be able to look back upon an exceptionally happy childhood.

The children's palace in Rome, where the children live has its own shaded gardens, but lest these should not suffice, the king has bought a villa close to the city to serve as an open playground for the youngsters. This villa is in the hills near the sea. The children are often taken out in motor cars, and spend long afternoons at play with their ponies and other pets, exactly as though they were the royal family.

When spring comes the little prince, Umberto, aged nine, and his sisters, Jolanda, Margherita and Giovanna, respectively twelve, eleven and six years old, go down to their father's villa in the hills near the sea, where a scented wood of pine trees borders the Mediterranean and where daisies in simple and practical clothes they live in the open air, bathing and climbing trees till they become as brown as berries and as hardy as the children of the peasants around them. Later on in the summer they go to the seashore at San Rossore, near Pisa, and later still to the fine country castle of Racconigi, in Piedmont, which has always been the summer residence of the Carignano branch of the House of Savoy.

One of the better class of Italian children of the better class to dress elaborately, like miniature editions of their parents, but Queen Helena, realizing how much happier the life of boys and girls who have to care for their clothes, has decided the fashion for simplicity by always dressing her children in loose and comfortable sailor suits. Thus, without restraint the youngsters enjoy riding, gardening and paddling in the sea.

The eldest of the family, Princess Yolande, a handsome girl and always looks well in her white serge suits with broad collars, but she is rather precocious, as are many Italian girls, and already shows a truly feminine interest in matters of dress. It is a great joy to her to be allowed to assist in selecting her mother's millinery, and she chooses hats for the queen on a most lavish scale, never allowing herself to be trammelled by the conventions of propriety. Yolande admires her beautiful mother intensely, and she was present on a public occasion recently when some one remarked to her that the queen looked particularly well. The little princess replied: "My mother is the very handsomest queen in Europe." After a short pause she added: "And I am going to be exactly like her."

The resemblance between mother and daughter is most striking.

SUFFRAGETTES BURN METHODIST CHAPEL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, July 5.—A Methodist chapel in the Welsh sea coast town of Pwllheli was the scene of a recent fire, the cause of which is being investigated by the police.

The chapel, which was built in 1880, was destroyed by fire today and an attempt was made to burn down the Baptist tabernacle in the same town. This is the fourth case of the kind in northern Wales in the last few years. As usual when an incendiary fire occurs in Wales, the militant suffragettes are suspected by the authorities. However, no evidence was found to incriminate them. Another supposed attempt by militant suffragettes to burn down a Baptist chapel occurred at Bolton, Lancashire, this morning. The caretaker of the new town hall, which cost $150,000, discovered a parcel containing explosives in the letter box. A fuse which was attached had been lighted, but had gone out.

Miss Annie Kenney and Miss Rachel Barrett, the first of whom was undergoing eighteen months' imprisonment and the second nine months' imprisonment for committing malicious damage to property, were released from jail again today suffering from the effects of a hunger and thirst strike.

PEDAGOGUES GATHERING FOR ANNUAL CONCLAVE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Salt Lake City, Utah, July 5.—Thousands of teachers were here from all parts of the United States for the opening of the National Education Association convention. A session of the national council of education was held at which the report of the committee on teachers' salaries, tenure and pensions was presented by Joseph Swain, president of Swathmore College. The report stated that a comparison of salaries between cities is of no value without a comparison of the cost of living.

FLAG DESECRATIONS MAR CELEBRATIONS

United States Government May Take Action in Mexican Case Where Flag Was Cut From Embassy Office.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, July 5.—Two incidents involving desecration of the national flag which marked celebrations yesterday are expected to form the subject of complaint to the state department, though so far nothing has been heard from them.

The affairs at Winnipeg, Man., involving the tramping of an American flag in a local parade probably cannot be made the basis of an official protest for the reason that international law does not guarantee the protection of flags of a foreign country except where they are displayed over official buildings.

In the Tucson, Ariz., incident, however, where the flag over the Mexican consulate was torn down the state department probably will feel obliged to request the local authorities to make a proper apology and arrange to have a proper flag put in its place. Without involving an official recognition of the Huerta government which appears to be the great apprehension of the state department at this juncture.

Mexican Situation.—Douglas, Ariz., July 5.—Insurgents reports from the front today told of an artillery duel at Guaymas between the federal gun boat, Tampico, and a rebel battery, commanded by the American adventurer Charpentier former leader of the dynamite squad which blew up bridges between Juarez and Chihuahua city. The battery, it was said, was composed of a company captured from Olinda the federal commander and was planted in the hills back of Guaymas. The outcome of the duel was not reported. Further dispatches told of a constitutional junta said the federal army of Guaymas had been cut off from water supplies for four days and that fighting in the streets continued.

Flag Hauled Down.—Tucson, Ariz., July 5.—The hauling down yesterday of the Mexican flag by the consulate of Alejandro Anslie was made today the subject of report of the Mexican embassy at Washington. Consul Anslie also made a formal protest to Mayor Huftschmidt. The Mexican residents here are formulating a petition to be sent to the state department at Washington. On the morning of the Fourth the American flag was removed and the Mexican banner hoisted in its place. The consul asks the civil authorities that those responsible be punished.

ART FOR THE CHILD EXHIBIT AT PARIS

Object to Train Sense of Beauty in the Child—Number of Delightful Toys Are Displayed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, July 5.—"Art for the Child" is the title of an interesting little exhibition now open in Paris. The object is to bring to the attention of the child and numbers of delightful toys designed with this end in view are displayed. M. Leo Claretie, one of the principal organizers of the exhibition, says: "If art is to be instilled into the masses it must be done in infancy, and a surviving tendency must be created before daily labor to diminish leisure. Many attractive things are on view, but it is interesting to note that dolls' houses are displayed. Instead, modern boys and girls are to have their own little summer houses built out of all intruding adults by their low roofs, the eaves of which are only three feet from the ground and they have their privacy fenced by white picket fences twenty inches high running all around them.

BOYS OF '63 START ON HOMEWARD MARCH

Tired Out After Strenuous Festivities Old Soldiers Depart for Their Homes.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Gettysburg, Pa., July 5.—Over the Emmetsburg road in the heat of a Meade and Lee march and home-tired by four days of a reunion, thousands of veterans began their homeward march after a last exchange of greetings with the new comrades. Before night more than half the army of 50,000 probably will have gone. Tomorrow the veterans will be given breakfast the last meal in camp. The army tents will probably stand here until next week. The graves of the Union soldiers who died today at Gettysburg as he was preparing to start for home. He was dressed in the gray of the Confederacy, but although his ticket gave his name his regiment was not indicated. The death of Hodges brought the total to nine.

GOVERNOR OF IOWA TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Hon. George W. Clark Taken Suddenly Ill in Office at State House Early This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Des Moines, Ia., July 5.—Governor George W. Clark was taken to a local hospital early today, suffering from a sudden attack of illness. An immediate examination by physicians was ordered to determine whether or not his condition was serious. Governor Clark became ill shortly after reaching his office in the state house this morning, and said he had suffered severe pains in the region of his kidneys. Drs. George H. Sumner and W. L. Biering of the state board of health and Dr. Oliver J. Fay were summoned to the executive offices. They ordered the governor removed immediately to a hospital. After a consultation the physicians issued a bulletin announcing the governor's condition satisfactory.

LIGHTNING STARTS FIRE WHICH BURNS INMAN FARM BARN

House Alone Escapes Flames Which Destroy Fine Buildings on Farm Four Miles North of Beloit Yesterday.

Lightning was responsible for a fire which destroyed practically all the barns and outbuildings on the Inman farm, four miles north of Beloit, during the storm which raged between four and five o'clock this morning. The fire now extends to one barn crib alone escaped the ravages of the flames which spread rapidly, fanned by the wind which accompanied the storm. The total loss is estimated between $5,000 and $8,000.

One of the large barns was struck and was soon in a mass of flames. Neighbors hastened at once to give what aid they could in the hopes of saving a large cow barn in which were housed a herd of valuable pure bred Brown Swiss cattle, for the breeding of which Mr. Inman has a wide reputation.

It was soon evident that the building was doomed, and with it went the bull, worth a thousand dollars, the leader of the herd, and nine blooded calves. The horses were safely removed. Besides the two large barns there were several smaller outbuildings, granaries and machinery sheds. Automobiles were saved but harnesses, buggies and a large amount of farm machinery were a total loss.

Six hundred pounds of oats, five tons of hay and a large amount of corn was also destroyed. Mr. Inman's buildings were all practically new and were of the improved type. The farm which was one of the finest in the Town of Beloit and in the southern part of Beloit county, today has its buildings with the exception of the house, a mass of smouldering ruins. The loss is particularly covered by insurance.

Duluth, Minn., July 5.—The fiercest thunder, lightning and rain storm in years struck over Duluth, Minnesota, last night, causing considerable damage. The heavens' artillery poured forth a thunder melody that transcended over any noise producers and the use of which was denied here. Fire started in a dozen places in the city, and one person was killed. Telephone service was suspended for an hour between Duluth and Superior while lightning paralyzed the city lights. Reports indicate that many people received shocks from the frequent flashes of lightning, but no one was killed.

Tornado Kills One.—Pipestone, Minn., July 5.—Farm buildings, fences and crops were laid waste by a tornado that swept a considerable territory near here last night. The tornado started at a point three miles southwest of this place and passed east for a distance of twelve miles. No one was killed and only one person was injured. The family of Thomas Chaney took refuge in the cellar just before their farm house was demolished.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., July 5.—Early yesterday this section was visited by one of the most severe rain storms that it has experienced in many years, lasting two hours. Torrents of rain fell accompanied by wind and hail beating crops into the ground and doing great damage. The day followed with fine weather for the celebration of the Fourth.

Damage at Winona.—Winona, Minn., July 5.—A serious wind and rain storm visited this section at midnight last night doing considerable damage, washing out many bridges.

DECREASE IN RESERVE HELD IN NEW YORK BANKS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, July 5.—The statement of the actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies for the week ending July 3 shows that they hold $19,562,200 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $15,316,050 from last week.

CHICAGO SUBURBANITES WITHOUT CAR SERVICE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, July 5.—Automobiles, wagons, trucks bicycles and the like were pressed into service today by employees of the city of Chicago. One big manufacturing firm at Woodlawn will use five auto trucks in bringing its men to work tomorrow and similar expedients are being adopted by others. There were no disorders.

Hand In Hand With The Maker

In years gone by it used to be that a manufacturer's responsibility for the things he made stopped with the sale of them. But that is no longer so. We are living in an age of progressive and efficient business buildings.

Manufacturers no longer consider the signing of an order from a reputable retailer as the climax of their interest and effort. And, what is more, the progress of the merchants do not feel that they are good business men unless they have agreed upon and put into practice some arrangement whereby both the manufacturer and the retailer benefit in the endorsement of the article in question.

By this kind of arrangement retailers offer their patrons two-fold evidence of quality and reliability—a double responsibility that spells safety to the prudent buyer.

PREPARED TO TRY MRS. IDA KELLAR

Woman Charged With Murder of Husband and Seven Year Old Daughter—Both Victims Insured.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Harrisonville, Mo., July 5.—The case of Mrs. Ida May Kellar, charged with the murder of her husband, Arthur Kellar, and her 7-year-old daughter, is set for trial Monday. The mother and other relatives of the murdered man are preparing to oppose any plea of insanity that may be made in behalf of the accused woman and will urge that she be tried without delay on the charge of murder.

Both of the victims of the tragedy, who were slain with an axe as they lay in their beds on the night of June 9 last, carried life insurance policies in a fraternal order. A desire to secure the insurance money is generally assigned as the motive for the double murder. According to the testimony of some of the neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Kellar had quarreled frequently over money matters.

Mrs. Kellar's alleged confession of the murders and her subsequent repudiation will probably be used by her counsel as the foundation for a plea of temporary insanity. During her confinement in jail the woman has made numerous contradictory statements and has told many wild stories in connection with the slaying of her husband and daughter. Many persons are of the belief that she is really insane.

PRINCESS VICTORIA FORTY-FIVE TODAY

One of the Best Loved Members of English Royal Family—Has Passed Up Brilliant Matches.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, July 5.—Princess Victoria, one of the best-loved members of the royal family, will reach her forty-fifth anniversary tomorrow. The Princess is the second daughter of the late King Edward, and in spite of her forty-five years is still one of the prettiest and most popular of the royal princesses. She is a European. Her mother, who has been expected, as even a beautiful woman yet, and her father, who is a man of great ability, are well known to the public. The Princess Victoria was not married to some son of a king long ago. In her youth gossip often allied her with the prince of Wales, but she never married. It is said that she has had many opportunities to contract a "brilliant matrimonial alliance," as such alliances are usually viewed by the eyes of the public. The Princess has chosen to remain a spinster. Years ago she fell in love with and desired to wed the head of a great banking firm, a man who in every respect was one of the best types of the English gentleman. Her love was reciprocated, but the banker was not of royal birth, and in consequence the Princess' august grandmother, Queen Victoria, put her veto on the proposed match.

The Princess is, however, apparently well satisfied with her lot as a "bachelor girl." It has been said that she is a little bit "fussy" and that her ideas on many subjects are "old fashioned." But those who know her best describe her as a woman of a perfect peace-maker. Her devotion to her mother is touching in the extreme. The two are almost inseparable. The health of the Princess Victoria has always been delicate, and she has never been able to do much of the work of the royal family. She also has a liking for tennis and golf and for many years was a most accomplished player of the game. Reading, both prose and poetry, occupies much of her spare time, and Browning is said to be her favorite poet. The Princess owns some fine jewels, notably a precious pendant, oval in shape, and formed of superb rubies and diamonds.

ACCESSORIES TO CRIMES GUILTY WITH PRINCIPALS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., July 5.—All accessories to an illegal act are held to be guilty with the principals in an opinion rendered by Attorney General Owen. The facts as set forth by District Attorney Charles Kirwan of Rusk county were that a party of five men went to a certain stream for the purpose of dynamiting for fish; that one of the party, a man named Smith, lighted and threw the dynamite into the stream, and that the others helped to pick up the fish killed by the explosion. The attorney general holds that all five are guilty of the crime and are punishable as principals.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., July 5.—The state railroad commission has granted the application of the village of Fennimore for authority to increase the water rates of its municipal plant. A new schedule of rates is ordered. Among other things, the order directs that no free service shall be given to schools, churches and other public buildings shall be supplied through meters and shall be charged for water service according to the rates made in this order. The village must pay the water and light department $1,500 per year for fire protection service and water for street use. A discount is allowed for prompt payment of bills.

The test is a ten mile flight over a triangular course with every kind of maneuvering in the air and water.

The contestants may elect to start at any time during the next three days. The tests are aereo and hydroplanes for prizes worth $1,000. The colony of hydro aviators will be swelled today it is expected by the arrival of Hugh Robinson, an aviator, Waldo B. Cooke and C. C. Wilmer. The latter is to pilot the flying boat entered by Harold F. McCormick.

DEDICATE FOUNTAIN IN EMPEROR'S HONOR

"Fairland Fountain" in Berlin, One of the City's Contributions Toward Celebration of Anniversary.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Berlin, July 5.—The dedication of a "Fairland Fountain" in a public park of Berlin was one of the municipal contributions toward celebrating the quarto-centennial of the emperor's reign.

The original design for this fountain was finished and shown at an art exhibition twelve years ago. After having been approved by the police authorities the design came back to the city hall with the information that the emperor declined to pass it. His criticism was that the figures representing the famous characters in fairy stories were more mere details in the general architectural scheme so that the children, for whom the fountain was intended, could scarcely recognize their story book favorites. His majesty's criticism of this "grown-up" allegorical design being brought together in groups, and above all he advised the municipal officials to consult the services of some sculptor who had shown the ability to do work in way that appealed to the children.

The emperor's interference caused much unfriendly criticism in the newspapers, and the city fathers argued that he had exceeded his authority. Nevertheless, they appointed a committee to consider his suggestions. The services of a Munich sculptor were secured and after several years a new design was approved by the emperor and the city.

The fountain has been erected, and now Berlin children are reveling in the wonderful playground where they may see the heroes of their story books. The figures are placed in groups around two basins, the larger of which covers nearly half an acre. The figures are: King David and his Pigeon, Puss-in-Boots, Cinderella and her slipper, Sleeping Beauty, and all the rest of the old-time favorites. The whole conception is a happy one, the poetry of old life is fittingly embodied in lasting and beautiful surroundings, and it is agreed on all sides that much credit for the final success of this beautiful idea, is due Emperor William for his rejection of the first designs.

ACTOR MUST FACE TRIAL FOR MURDER

Much Interest in Case of James Develin, Who Shot and Killed Policeman at Cliffside.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Hackensack, N. J., July 5.—Considerable interest is manifested in the trial, docketed to begin here Tuesday, of James Develin, the actor who shot and killed Policeman Patrick Considine at Cliffside on May 25, last. The nature of Develin's defense, and the fact that the only eye witness to the shooting was his wife, Mrs. Develin, who is known on the stage as Mrs. E. J. Develin, has been held as a material witness, but her testimony cannot be compelled to testify against her husband.

According to the authorities, Develin returned to his home at a late hour on the night of the tragedy and found his wife and cousin talking in front of the house with Policeman Considine, who was known as a friend of the family. The two men engaged in a quarrel, and Mrs. Develin is said to have feared for the safety of her husband if he (Develin) had a revolver, would shoot the other. Considine is then said to have presented his own gun, and Develin shot him with the weapon. Considine died two days later.

King and Queen of England Will Celebrate Twentieth Anniversary as Guests of Lord Derby.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, July 5.—The king and queen, who have gone to Lancaster for a visit as the guests of Lord Derby at Knowles Hall, will celebrate their twentieth wedding anniversary tomorrow. Their marriage took place on July 6, 1893.

For the entertainment of his guests Lord Derby has arranged a novelty in the shape of a genuine music hall performance. In the center of the stage there has been placed a dias for the accommodation of the king and queen.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Duluth, Minn., July 5.—Refusing to adopt the resolution condemning Dr. J. M. HOUSE PLANS PROBE OF MULHALL MATTER

SWEEPING INVESTIGATION WILL COVER EVERY PHASE OF MANUFACTURERS' LOBBY.

RESOLUTION DRAFTED

Which Will Also Allow a Review of Every Angle of Lobby Operations at Washington—Documents As Evidence.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, July 5.—A "lobby" investigation by the house to cover practically Martin M. Mulhall's charges that the National Association of Manufacturers influenced present and former congressmen, but broad enough to include all alleged lobby activities before Congress was provided today by a resolution from the house rules committee.

Provision of Resolution.—It would direct a committee of seven members to be appointed by the speaker to inquire whether the National Association of Manufacturers or any other organization or corporation or association or person "now or hereafter" has for the purpose of influencing legislation by Congress, and report to what extent and in what manner if at all, legislation has been improperly affected or prevented by the existence of said lobby if it be found to exist at all, now or heretofore.

Look Over Documents.—Senators Reed and Walsh after an examination of the mass of Mulhall letters, telegrams and expense accounts, a report by the senate lobbyist committee have called into force the committee next week. Every opportunity will be given to the house to examine the letters.

Under a broad clause in the resolution the house committee would have almost plenary authority to gate all lobbying activities past or present.

Tammy Situation.—Opposition to a rule binding all democrats to support the tariff without change forced an adjournment of the senate caucus today until Monday. Only thirty-one of the fifty-one democrats were present and several senators objected to the caucus taking final action to bind its members when so few were present. Adjournment was taken to four Monday afternoon when an effort will be made to secure the necessary two-thirds majority. The time when a democratic caucus shall take effect is still undecided. Many democrats are advocating that it go into effect immediately when the bill comes a law.

ERIE IS PREPARED FOR CELEBRATION

Commodore Perry's Ship, The Niagara, Built and Launched There One Hundred Years Ago.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Erie, Pa., July 5.—During the week beginning tomorrow Erie will look back the pages of her history a hundred years, to the stirring events that occurred on Lake Erie in the war of 1812, ending with the battle of Put-In-Bay and the victory of Commodore Perry. It will be a celebration in honor of the Perry centennial and the first of a series of such celebrations that are to be held in numerous cities and towns along the lakes this summer.

Erie was appropriately selected for the beginning of the celebration, as it was here that Commodore Perry's flagship, the Niagara, was built and launched one hundred years ago, and from Erie the celebrated naval hero started out in search of the enemy. After having lain beneath the waters of Misery Bay, near here, for nearly a century, the Niagara was recently raised and restored by the state of Pennsylvania in will that she may figure in the centennial celebrations about to begin. The historic old ship is to be placed on public exhibition here and at the other places where the celebrations are to be held.

A museum of Perry relics has been established on the ship. Among these relics and mementoes are Commodore Perry's sword, now the property of Perry Behnken, the commodore's pistols, his appointment as Commodore in the navy, signed by President Madison, and the Jarvis portrait of Perry, which is the property of the navy department at Washington.

BRYAN PEACE PLANS ARE BEING OUTLINED

Expected That Twenty or Thirty Nations Will Be Interested in World-wide Pact.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, July 5.—Secretary Bryan expects to begin this fall actual negotiations for concluding his proposed general peace pact with the other nations of the world. Because of the absence from Washington of most of the ambassadors and ministers it is not feasible now to do much more than supply to them the outlying draft of the project for transmission to their own government.

Bryan expects that the twenty governments which already have promised to give the project consideration will be increased to thirty by including all the great powers.

NEW LAWS WIDEN THE POWER OF CITIES IN THE ENTIRE STATE

Legislature Has Made Many Changes In The Present Laws Relative To Municipalities.

Wisconsin cities will find themselves with more powers following this legislature. Here are some of the new things that can be done.

Cities may condemn and take over street railway property at any time. It took two years under the old law.

Cities of more than 5,000 may alter the district of living by establishing public slaughterhouses under regulations fixed by the dairy and food commissioner. This power is also vested in county boards. A city slaughterhouse may be operated by the health department. This law, however, can be used only after it has been approved by the voters at a general election. Then the authorities may make the appropriations.

Cities and villages are authorized to expend not more than $5,000 in a sane Fourth of July celebration.

Cities of the first, second and third class may appropriate not to exceed $5,000 for the Perry victory celebration.

Cities may condemn lands within the same county for park systems.

Cities and villages may build opera houses, auditoriums or other places for public recreation or amusement.

Cities may go into water power development to the extent of constructing a dam, levee, or other works, to prevent floods, or maintain a power of water supply.

When a city, village or town is offered a library, its board may by two-thirds vote levy a tax for maintenance, but this action may be reviewed by referendum.

Fire Chiefs Deputy Marshals. Chiefs of fire departments all over the state are now deputy state fire marshals. The chief may designate members of his department to make inspections. Chiefs in larger cities are required to appoint these inspectors, who report to the state fire marshal.

Cities, villages and towns may acquire and operate utilities located outside their boundaries.

Municipalities may retire such indebtedness as does not mature serially, by levying a tax on twentieth of the principal annually. This fund may be invested in their own securities. A council may by two-thirds vote construct streets and gutters without waiting for the usual petition and assessment to the city.

May Regulate Dance Halls. Councils or commissions in second-class cities may regulate dance halls. By two-thirds vote the council may change the number and boundaries of wards and consolidate old ones, but there can be no further change in two years. A restriction on Milwaukee is that the wards must not have less than 8,000 population or more than 20,000.

Village boards may appoint park commissions consisting of five members. Thirty per cent of the elections in a city may petition for a special election if they are not satisfied with a street paving program, and submit a vote whether their own or the council's plans shall be adopted. Mayors and other city officials can have nothing to do with these petitions.

Village boards can license electrical concerns.

Councils and boards may, when petitioned, install ornamental street lighting system, to be partly paid for by abutting property owners.

Would Protect Contracts. Officials are forbidden to be employed or agents of firms interested in contracts for labor or materials for the city. The penalty is voiding the contract, and the official is disqualified from office and may be fined up to $1,000 and sent to jail not to exceed a year.

Police and fire commissions in third and fourth class cities may assume charge of the police and fire departments, but only when the provisions of this law have been approved at an election.

Another provision that may be adopted by popular vote in second, third and fourth class cities, empowers the council by two-thirds vote, to give the ward supervisors a seat in the council as a ward alderman.

A statewide measure arising out of a Milwaukee case empowers municipalities to reimburse for his defense, an official against whom charges have been made in case the charges are dismissed or resolved in his favor.

City Bank Bill Killed. The legislature refused to pass a bill to permit cities to establish banks of their own under the national bank law, or to permit them to sell municipal plants.

Possibly because of the failure of home rule two years ago, the legislature devoted much time to municipalities and passed scores of acts, many of the measures being rather trivial in details.

KIDS AND GRAYBEARDS MIXED. Those Boston Braves, by the way, have a wider range of ages on their roll call than any other team in the big leagues. They are made up for the most part of veterans and recruits.

Consider Lord, Cy Seymour, Art Devlin, Pitts, Purdie and Sweeney. All old boys. On the other hand there are Brown, Myers, Harnville, McDonald, Connolly and Whiting. McDonald, Connolly and Whiting are mere kids in the game. The Boston team presents an interesting picture of those just coming in meeting those just going out.

CARDINALS DEFEAT FAST NEWARK TEAM IN AN UPHILL GAME

Although Locals Receive Twenty Strikeouts, They Are Able to Win in a Seventh Inning Rally.

In a game featured by thirty strikeouts, the Cardinals pulled out a wonderful form and won the game against the Newark Giants at the Orfordville celebration yesterday by the score of 4 to 2. The Cardinals were in danger of defeat at the opposing pitcher's hand, but they were able to win in a seventh inning rally.

Howard started the game in rather poor form, but after the second inning he picked up and held the Newark nine in check for the next five innings. A rally in the sixth inning, two hits and one run for the Cardinals, but it was not enough to win. Hemminger secured a hit in the seventh inning, but he was left on second base. In the eighth inning, the Cardinals started a rally, which scored two runs, tying the game. The Cardinals combination were in the shining light, just as they were in the previous game at New York. A few weeks ago, each secured a hit, which featured in Wilson's crossing the home plate for the local's first run.

The Cardinals took advantage of the lucky seventh, and after securing two hits and one run for the Cardinals, they were able to win in a seventh inning rally.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Can you put the spider's web in place
That once has been swept away?
Can you put the apple again on the bough

Which fell at your feet today?
Can you put the lily cup back on the stem

And cause it to live and grow?
Can you mend the butterfly's broken wing

That you crushed with a hasty blow?
Can you put the bloom again on the grape,

And the grape again on the vine?
Can you put the dew-drops back on the flowers,

And make them sparkle and shine?
Can you put the petals back on the rose?

If you could, would it smell as sweet?
Can you put the flour again in the hulk,

And show me the ripened wheat?
Can you put the kernel again in the nut,

Or the broken egg in the shell?
Can you put the honey back in the comb,

And cover with wax each cell?
Can you put the perfume back in the vase

When once it has sped away?
Can you put the cornsilk back on the corn,

Or down on the catkins, say?
You think my questions are trifling,
dear,

Let me ask you another one:
Can a hasty word be ever unsaid,
Or a deed unkind, undone?

—Exchange.

It will be noticed that this list of simple questions has to do very largely with the realm of nature, a realm
so full of mystery and yet so universally familiar that we never appreciate its wonderful resources.

Nature is such a liberal provider
that we take for granted everything she has to offer, with complaint on our lips more often than gratitude.
The heated term of the last two weeks in June, caused us to wilt like morning-glories in the early sun, and we were confident that no such suffering from heat had ever been experienced, and yet the old inhabitant says that back in the '60's he plowed corn and made hay by moonlight because neither man nor beast could work in the daytime.

Nature is a wonderful repeater. It continues to do things year after year, and century after century, in the same old way, because when the great Creator finished His work He pronounced it "good," and it has proved so good ever since, that no changes were necessary.

The seasons come and go with monotonous regularity and bud and blossom, with the full corn in the ear, is the annual program. That the yield increases, as time advances, is due to the fact that nature's resources are being understood, and more highly developed.

The realm of nature is a defenseless realm, and it is possible to so thoroughly despoil it, in some departments, that nothing remains but a record of what has been. This is true of many species of the animal and bird kingdom, and once destroyed, no power on earth can restore them.

The buffalo of the western plains
are of the past, and many of the game and song birds have gone, never to return. Some years ago, the farm lands in the New England states were abandoned, because worn out. Many acres have since been reclaimed through scientific methods.

The interest now being taken in the conservation of natural resources is in recognition of the fact that creative genius is entitled to respect.
This fact the world has been slow to appreciate.

The hand that paints the lily, and plants the forests, is not a human hand, and the world is just beginning to realize that some of the work of the Divine artist has been ruthlessly destroyed.

The great works of nature, however,
are indestructible, and so each succeeding generation enjoys to the full the same rich blessings, so generously provided.

The same old ocean, which floated
the frail craft of the forefathers, rolls between the continents with old-time power and majesty, and the nations
enjoy it as never before.

The same mountains, with old-time grandeur, stretch up their peaks above the clouds, while from every hill-top the evening sunset paints a panorama of surpassing beauty, and calls back memories of long ago.

The same sun which ripened the vineyards of Judea, shines with old-time lustre on every corner of the globe, and the same morning star which guided the shepherds of the plains to Bethlehem, still sparkles in the northern heavens. The great God who created, back in the dawn of time, is still in control, and His works continue to be marvelous.

But the last four lines of the little poem suggest the thought which inspired the writer, and the questions
he asks concerning the works of nature, imply with equal force to the moral kingdom, in which all of us are vitaly interested.

The span of life is like the spider's web which has been wrought out overnight by some tireless worker, and suspended from some bough, to catch the first rays of the morning sun, and capture some insect which may have chance that way. The silken threads which cross and re-cross each other a thousand times, present a work of art in the finished product, which no loom can rival, and every thread is necessary to the structure.

So every life is a thread in the great loom of human existence, and whether we will or no, it is woven into the structure of the generations through which we pass. We touch some lives occasionally, in the outer circle of business, society and politics,
and others more closely in the church and the home, the same as the spi-

der's web, but unlike the gaudy structure, the contact is not always helpful.

A man stood at the desk in a down town office, the other day, and said to the proprietor, "You don't know me, but I am in trouble, and someone on the street said that you would listen to my story." He was sober, well dressed, clean shaven, and his bright eyes and open countenance spoke of honesty and sincerity. Taking him aside he told his story.

He said: "My name is James Blank. I am an ex-convict, and have been out of the pen, in a distant state, for a month. I was sentenced for three years for a crime committed when I was drunk, and redeemed six months of my time by good behavior."
"I have a good trade, and when I left the prison the chaplain said to me: 'James, hold up your head, and be a man. The world is large and you can find a place to work and redeem yourself.' But somehow when I walk the streets it seems to me that everyone is saying: 'There goes a convict!'"

Then he hesitated and said: "Say, do I look like a convict?" On being assured that he looked as innocent as any man on the street, tears came to his eyes and extending his hand he said: "I want to thank you, my friend for your confidence, for it puts new life into me, and I will go out and win." He went away filled with hope, and all because his troubled life had crossed another life, in the weaving process.

But the mischief we do, and the good we do, is confined very largely to the narrow environments, where our lives are spent. The hearts which are the closest to us, are in the home, and this sacred precinct should present a pattern as delicate in texture, and as beautiful in structure as the circular web which sparkles with dew drops in the morning sun.

The home is what we make it. It may be beset by trials and sorrows incident to the journey, but it should not mar the harmony of the pattern,
so closely woven by daily contact. Every home should be a happy home, and it may be, if all the weavers work together to make it a paradise.

SCRIPTURE

Luke 7th Chapter—1st to 10th

verses.
Now when he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entered into Capernaum.

And a certain centurion's servant
who was dear unto him, was sick, and ready to die.

And when he heard of Jesus, he sent unto him the elders of the Jews, sitting him, saying unto him, "Lord, trouble not thyself; for I am not worthy that thou shouldst enter under my roof."

Wherefore neither thought I myself worthy to come unto thee, but say, a word, and my servant shall be healed.
For he loveth our nation, and he hath built us a synagogue.

Then Jesus went with them. And when he was now far from the house,
the centurion sent his friend to him,
saying unto him, "Lord, trouble
not thyself; for I am not worthy that
thou shouldst enter under my roof."

Wherefore neither thought I myself

REPORT SUBMITTED BY HEALTH OFFICER

Seventeen Places Placarded for Contagious Diseases During Month

of June According to Dr.
S. B. Buckmaster

Seventeen places were placarded for contagious diseases during the month of June according to the report of Health Officer Dr. S. B. Buck-master for that period to be presented to the city council for their acceptance at an early meeting. Twenty-four rooms were fumigated; for cases; diphtheria, 1 case; cerebro-spinal meningitis, 1 case. All of these patients recovered. At the close of the month there were five placards in the city all for measles, there being no other form of contagious disease present.

As local registrar of vital statistics, Dr. Buckmaster reports the following statistics received, dated and forwarded to the state board of health, Madison, after copies had been made for filing in the office and also for the county register of (cases:
Marriages, 19; births, 20; accidents,
2; deaths, 22; supplementary reports of given names of children, 2.

Dr. Buckmaster has given attention to the numerous complaints and finds that there are not as few people in the city who persist in disregarding the rights of others to sanitary and pleasant surroundings.

etc.)

(4) Verses 11-14—Show how this harshness was bad statecraft and did they obey?

(11) When Pharaoh could not get the midwives to murder all the baby boys what command did he then give?

(12) Chapter ii:1-4—Who were the

(13) Would you say or not, and why,
that this man and woman of the tribe of Levi were brought together in marriage by God in order that Moses might be born?

(14) Would you say or not, and why,
that "all true marriages are made in heaven?"

(15) Give your reason for your opinand why did they not try to continue to hide him?

(17) Did the mother of Moses in selecting this method of putting him in the ark by the river plan the experiment to bring about what actually happened? Why?

(18) Verses 5-6—Would you say, and why, that Pharaoh's daughter's sympathy for the child was purely natural or that she was directly influenced by God? What makes the latter theory probable?

(19) Verses 7-10—What was the name of this sister, who acted her part so skillfully, and why would you say or not that she was inspired by God?

all the details of every good man's life
are guided by God? Why?

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney &
Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They say one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

TWO BOYS STRUCK BY MOTORCYCLES

Irwin Lawrence and Orchin Bohlman
Injured in Separate Accidents
Yesterday Afternoon.

Motorcycles figured in two Fourth of July accidents in Janesville, both of which occurred at about the same time of day. Irwin Lawrence was struck by a motorcycle while he was crossing South Main street opposite the Court House Park at about 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and thrown violently to the pavement.
He sustained a bad bruise over one eye, his chin was skinned, and his tongue cut. The bruise over his eye swelled to such an extent that it closed it. Dr. P. W. Van Kirk was called to attend him. This morning young Lawrence was able to be around, although in considerable pain. The police are seeking to learn the identity of the rider of the machine.

Orchin Bohlman, 17 years old,
while riding down South Main street, collided with another machine near the intersection of Racine street and both riders were thrown to the street. Bohlman sustained a bad cut on his head and others on his face.
The other rider, who was unknown
to him, was able to ride away. Dr.
W. H. McGuire witnessed the accident and conveyed Bohlman to his office where he was cared for. His condition for a time was thought serious and another physician from Beloit was called, but today Bohlman was able to walk down to Dr. McGuire's office. The collision resulted from a misunderstanding between the riders of the two machines, one turning unexpectedly in front of the other to go down Racine street.

NEW MERCY HOSPITAL IS NEAR COMPLETION

LIBERAL CONTRIBUTIONS MAKE IT POSSIBLE TO RESUME WORK ON BUILDING.

NUMEROUS DONATIONS

Sisters Grateful to Those Who Have Assisted Them to Carry Out Their Cherished Ambition.

After long months of anxiety and ceaseless solicitation the efforts of the Sisters of Mercy are bringing results and the completion of Mercy Hospital, the construction of which has long been the ambition of the Sisters of Mercy for many years to care for their patients in a building that made possible the use of the most approved scientific and sanitary methods, and this ambition is now near realization. The new building will accommodate a much greater number of patients than do the present quarters, and they will be provided accommodations second to none in the state.

Below is given a list of those who have contributed amounts of five dollars and more. There were a large number who gave lesser sums but want of space prevents their enumeration. These were no less than fully received.

Dale of the Janesville Business College was elected to the office of secretary-treasurer of the Wisconsin Commercial Educators' Association at the annual session of that association held in Madison on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. O. E. Wood of Stevens Point was honored with the office of president. The convention which was well attended, was a most profitable one according to Mr. Dale. One of the features of the session was the discussion of the stenotype which promises to replace stenography.

LITTLE DISTURBANCE BUT MANY ARRESTED

Twenty-Five Locked in Police Station Last Night—Fourth Com. Paratively Quiet in Janesville.

Little disturbance characterized the celebration of the national independence day in Janesville in spite of the fact that twenty-five men were locked up in the police station last night. All of these were taken into the streets because of being intoxicated but only five were taken into the building in order to answer charges this morning. Frank Caplin, Frank Kemerling and John Anderson paid fines of $4 and costs after pleading guilty to the offense charged. August Severance paid a fine of $5 and costs. He became embroiled in a quarrel with Charles Cody which led to a fight. Both charged the other with drawing a knife, and each denied the accusation. Cody protested that he was not the aggressor and a plea of "not guilty." The testimony of others supported his statement and he was discharged. One disturbance that marred the general good order of the day was between a colored man and a white man whom it was alleged attacked the former's wife. The matter was settled between the two after the police had been called in. No legal steps were taken against the white man.

Patrolmen Patrick Fanning, Peter Chapman and Sam Brown were detailed to Beloit yesterday to assist in carrying for the large crowds attending the celebration. Fanning was stationed at the Five Corners Chamber at the corner of Fourth and Grand avenue and Brown at the Hilton House corner. They reported that the crowds were very orderly and that few arrests were made. Other disturbances were reported from Rockford and South Bay.

Morning Ceremonies.
At 10 o'clock, a. m., the program called for decoration of the graves of the American and British officers killed in the battle of Perry. By the school children of Put-in-Bay, simple religious services with music by a military and concert band and prayer of the Rev. J. M. Forbes, characterized the ceremony.
At 1:00 o'clock, p. m., the cornerstone of the magnificent Perry Memorial was laid under the auspices of the Ohio Grand Lodge of Masons. The Rev. J. M. Forbes, officiating, participated in this ceremony. The Ohio Commissioners and the Interstate Board of Perry's Victory Centennial Commissioners.
The office of the Grand Lodge and the Ohio Commissioners representing the National Government and the states of Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Rhode Island, Kentucky, and West Virginia, constituting the Interstate Board, were escorted to the site of the Memorial by the Seventh commanderies and Knight Templars from Cleveland, Toledo and Sandusky. A Great Memorial.

No single event of any war in which the United States has ever been engaged, and no individual hero of any war so strongly appealed to the popular imagination of the American people and so completely captivated their hearts as the Battle of Lake Erie, the immortal command of the victorious fleet Oliver Hazard Perry, Rhode Island. Whatever may be said of equality or inequality of the two sets, it was a battle of brave men on both sides and Perry triumphed, his triumph was complete. The words "We have met the enemy and they are ours" have ever since been a proverb among the American people.

All these sister states have simply said it shall be done, the memorial shall be built, so in hearty co-operation and in generous emulation of each other they by their representative commissions who speak in the name and in the capacity of the states from which they come, the memorial is being built. It is to be in its completed dignity and attractiveness a lasting tribute of the people of the sister states to those Great Lakes and of the co-operation of the states from the lakes whose sons were the heroes of the struggle for this treeless Northwest Territory to the peace and prosperity to which they have attained.

T was the Fourth of July—the Natal Day of the great Nation which the Civil War then at its height had threatened to split sunder. The terrific conflict at Gettysburg was over, and whilst there was rejoicing throughout the Union forces over the repulse of Lee's movements of the day before it was tempered with overwhelming sorrow at the price in human blood paid for the victory. The heavens were weeping in torrents as if trying to wash away the evidence of the dreadful carnage of the three days' strife, and as if protesting against the unequal battle which proved to be the most destructive of the whole war. On the one side was the Army of the Potomac unconscious at that time of the extent of its victory, and on the other the legions of Northern Virginia somewhat dismayed at the failure of the previous day but yet unconquered. For the present Lee determined not to attempt further battle, and a retreat to Virginia was decided upon. Calling General Imboden he placed him in charge of the wagon trains carrying the wounded— "to return to Virginia," said General Lee. "The wounded must be taken home." "When I began to speak of the fight," said General Imoden, "Lee was a picture of mental suffering, and 'Oh, too bad! too bad!' was all he could say. It is really the saddest incident I recall of the War." Then came the retreat with all the attendant horrors of carrying the wounded over rocky roads in wagons without springs. The rain poured in torrents and the crowded, dripping wagons afforded little protection to the suffering men. Scarcely one in a hundred had received medical attention and many of them died on the way. When Williamsport, Maryland, was reached about noon on the Fourth of July, General Imboden was compelled to halt as the rain and turned the stomach into a raging sea, and vomiting was impossible. The men who had died on the way were given decent burial and the wounded taken from the wagons and attended in houses. The entire town assisted in cooking food and doing all they could to make the wounded comfortable.

A council of war was held in the nation camp on the evening of the fourth after General Meade had learned that Lee had left the field. It was decided not to follow directly, the cavalry was sent out and they discovered the Confederates near Williamsport and on the defensive. At this time part of the infantry had reached the wagon train. A brisk skirmish occurred on July sixth between Kilpatrick and Stuart.

For months after the battle the dead at Gettysburg bore marks of the terrible conflict. The soil was crisscrossed with blood and the streams ran red with the blood of the wounded and slain. The Emmitsburg road was impassable for days owing to the dead bodies of men and horses fed and to be interred as the former about all they could do to look after their wounded. The Confederate prisoners were pressed into service to bury their fallen comrades. They did cheerfully, digging long trenches and placing the men side by side. "Many times we have made the Yankees do the same thing for us," they said as they covered the boys from the Southland with the cold earth of the North. Whenever it was feasible the graves were marked but the earth was soggy and the rains which followed washed many of the low graves away and even opened up the shallow graves. Governor Curtin, the executive of Pennsylvania, came upon the scene one day and was so struck by the sorrow of several relatives of the dead soldier over the manner in which the exigencies of war had caused the burial of the dead son that he determined some place must be found where the dead heroes could suitably be buried. A plot of some fifteen acres of ground on Cemetery Hill was purchased—on the spot where the Union line of battle had held fast. Eighteen States joined in the purchase. The with wide lawns dotted here and there with shrubbery which forms beautiful vistas showing the prominent features of the field.

The work of re-interring the dead began on the 27th of October, 1863, and was completed on the 18th of the following March. The number re-interred was thirty-five hundred and twenty-five. This does not mean that all of the dead were found, the whole field was dotted with bones. In re-interring the bodies in the cemetery every effort was made to discover the identity of the men and in this many cases was done and the remains of the dead soldier had been taken home, the identification being made through articles found on his body. An entry of each re-interment was made. These things were kept and numbered to correspond with the number of the gravestone of the dead upon whose body the articles were found. The following is an example of the record:

twenty-seven thousand, five hundred and twenty. A well-known war place the Confederate losses were, wounded and prisoners, at the battle of Antietam.

In 1895 the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Association transferred its lands (about eight hundred and twenty acres) together with the monuments which had been erected to the care and protection of the general government. The battlefield is now under the care of the United States Government, by Act of Congress of 1895. Already five hundred and thirty monuments have been erected by the United States, excellent carriage roads have been built so it is now possible for the tourist to ride to every point of the field. Five iron and steel obelisks have been erected, and these one may view the entire battlefield, a new vast park dotted with costly marble and bronze tributes to the men who gave their lives for the cause of liberty.

It was not long after the close of the war that the men who fought in the Union army began to consider the utility of forming an association, to talk together and sent out letters to the regiments until finally the Grand Army of the Republic was formed, Major B. F. Stephenson, one of the first G. A. R. Post, at Chicago, Illinois, in 1866. Major Stephenson prepared the ritual of the organization and became its first Commander in Chief.

The United Confederate Veterans was organized in New Orleans, Louisiana, in 1893. The object of the association, which is composed of men who fought in the Confederate army, is to unite in a general federation of associations of Confederate veterans. The main object of the society is to aid veterans and their widows and orphans and keep alive the memories of the men who gave their lives for the Lost Cause. The society also collects historic data for an impartial history of the war between the States and preserve relics. The number of

No. 118—A Dutch Colonial Cottage by John Henry Newson

constructed in frame, with gambrel roof, is very picturesque and homelike. The chimney is built of rough stone and red brick, laid in a pleasing combination which harmonizes well with the texture of the shingles. The heavy porch columns which give this house so much character are built of wood.

The large living room extends across the front with the entrance hall at one end and an angle nook with chimney seats at the other, a combined width of 33 feet, and the dining room opening off the center of the living room, give a feeling of great space and the effect of an exceedingly large house.

The den or library is accessible from either the dining room or living room, with a toilet room conveniently placed. Combination stairs lead to the second floor, which contains four bedrooms and a closet for each room, as well as a bathroom.

While this house has no attic, storage space is provided in the large room on the second floor. Several minor changes, such as opening up the den and living room or enlarging the den by doing away with the toilet, can be made without increasing the cost.

This house was built in Ohio for $3500. It can be built for from $3000 to $4200, much depending upon locality, labor conditions, grade of materials used. It occupies a space of 34x27 feet.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE "IN-LAW" PROBLEM.
WHEN the average person talks about the mother-in-law problem what does he mean?

Why, he means the difficulties which arise between a man and his wife's mother, doesn't he?

Now of course since the masculine is the more important sex, this must naturally be considered the more important phase of the question. Nevertheless there are two parties to most marriages, and the wife does acquire some relevancy as well as the husband. Therefore I don't really see why a little attention shouldn't be paid to the mother-in-law problem from the wife's point of view.

And yet, since the world began, the word "mother-in-law" has primarily called up the other phase of the question. I have just laid down a paper in which there was a joke about Adam's good luck in not having a mother-in-law. Needless to say, the fact that Eve had as much reason for rejoicing is not commented upon. And so it goes everywhere.

Someone may suggest that this is because wives get along better with their mothers-in-law than husbands. If they do, it is simply because women are more in the habit of patiently enduring all sorts of crosses than men. It certainly is not because the husband's mother is less apt to interfere than the wife's.

My own observation—I want it most emphatically understood that I am not referring to any personal experience—has certainly shown me far more cases in which the husband's mother made life miserable for the wife.

And isn't it more natural that the husband's mother should interfere? There are more points of contact and hence of disagreement between two women than between a woman and a man. The husband's mother has first place in his heart, three things which she used to do, and consequently she is likely to give advice about the first two things, and be jealous of the third.

The wife's mother, on the other hand, has never supported her daughter nor stood at the head of her daughter's home, nor been her daughter's ideal man. And hence she is not likely to try to show the son-in-law how to try to do the first two things, or to be jealous of his place in her daughter's heart.

Mind you, I am not attempting to say that husbands' mothers are always disagreeable inferiors, and wives' mothers always sensible and kind. Of course there are selfish and unselfish women in both classes just as there are everywhere in the world. I am merely trying to point out that wives have just as much of a mother-in-law problem as husbands, and that they deserve just as much sympathy. In fact, since such large arrears are due them, I think they deserve a great deal more.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
Things Worth Knowing.
Buckskin Cleaner—For cleaning white buckskin shoes the following is good: Take a small brush and make a lather of good scouring soap. Brush the latter thoroughly into the shoes and when dry, brush off again and they will look like new.

Old black stockings into lengths to fit the whisk. Brown them in saw across one end to form a bag. Slip an old, worn-out whisk broom into this and see how convenient it is to wipe off the range without soiling your hands.

A nice garnish for grapefruit is fresh mint leaves.
When short of butter use a little salad oil in scrambling eggs.

Corn Fritters—Make a batter of one cup of flour, one-half teaspoon of baking powder, a little salt, one beaten egg and one cup of milk. Add one cup of corn and fry in hot fat.

Milk Chocolate Filling—Two squares of chocolate, one-half cup of milk; two tablespoonsful of sugar. Boil until thick.

Cantaloupe a la Russe—Prepare cantaloupes which have been thoroughly chilled allowing one-half to each person. Fill hollow with equal parts of crushed macaroni, cut up marshmallows and ground nut meats mixed with whipped cream.

Jam Cake—Cream well together one-half cupful of butter and one cupful of sugar. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs, one-quarter cup of teaspoonful of salt and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Stir in alternately one and one-half cupfuls of flour and one-half cupful of milk. Beat hard for five minutes and add the finely beaten whites of the eggs and one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat for a moment, divide in three layers and bake in a moderate oven.

When cold spread raspberry jam between the layers.
Currant Jelly—Select firm currants; pick them over but do not remove stems. A lighter colored jelly may be obtained by using equal quantities of red and white currants. Wash, drain and mash with a wooden potato masher, or a few at a time in the bottom of the preserving kettle. When all are mashed, cook slowly until the color leaves the currants; strain through a coarse strainer and let juice drip through a double thickness of cheesecloth. Measure, heat to boiling point and cook 5 minutes; then add an equal measure to heated sugar, boil 5 minutes; skim and test by putting in a teaspoonful in a saucer, setting it in a cold place for a minute and then scraping it with a spoon. If the surface has partly jelled turn the jelly at once into glasses which have been rinsed with water. In case liquid does not begin to jell make the rest, boil longer. Let stand 24 hours—preferably in a sunny window—then seal tops with melted paraffin.

Cream Cookies—2 eggs; 2 cups of flour; 1 cup of sugar; 2 teaspoons baking powder; 1 cup of thick cream; 1 teaspoon of salt; 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat Eggs—Add sugar, cream and flour mixed and sifted with baking powder. Chill, shape and bake. One-half cup of caraway seeds may be substituted for the vanilla.

Cream New Potatoes With Parsley—Drop potatoes into boiling water and cook until they can be pierced with a fine skewer. Do not use the times of a fork, which would burst them. Neither should you expect them to be mealy. For in new potatoes the starch cells are not yet developed. Drain and arrange in a hot vegetable dish. To make the sauce, put two level tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan with one of flour. When melted and bubbly add a cup of thin cream and stir constantly until it boils and thickens. Then add a level teaspoonful of salt, a dash of white or black pepper as preferred, and a tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley. Cook a moment longer and pour over the potatoes.

Banana Custard Pie—(1)—Is it a girl of sixteen is old enough to go with the boys. Some tell me they are. I don't think so; do you?
(2)—I love jewelry. Do you think it is a nice thing for girls to wear?
(3)—Are high heels in style this year?
(4)—I am in the sixth grade. Am I too old for it?

SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD.
(1)—It is said that if you apply kerosene to the warts several times a day, they will drop off in a short time. Muratic acid is sometimes used, but it is dangerous to handle and may leave a bad scar. Use a brush and just paint the wart with the acid.
(2)—It could be better, my dear.

Banana Custard Pie—One cup sweet milk, three-quarters cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, two eggs (save white of one for frosting). Cook this like thick cream, add one teaspoonful vanilla. After cooking, bake the custard, slice two bananas into baked crust and pour the custard over them. Bake the egg whites and put in the oven to brown.

She is not old enough to have beans, but I like to see girls and boys friendly with each other.
much jewelry, especially for a young girl, because her sweetness and freshness and purity are adornment enough. If you wish to wear jewelry, it is better to wear one good piece than several cheap ones. Everybody knows imitation cheap jewelry.

Every Day Talks For Every Day People...

Men and women who farm for a living are confronted by many different problems.

While farming may be the oldest and most honorable work in the world, strictly speaking, the farmers (and the farmers' wives) have a great deal to learn even though they, as a class, have stood between the world and want.

The spur of necessity seems to be arousing our country to scientific investigation along land forest and crop lines.

There's one part of the problem that the government, however well meaning it is, is not taking. That is how to check the rush of the young men and women to the cities.

Of course it's easy to say that if farming is profitable and labor-saving machinery used, if the country is made convenient, sanitary and modern and social centers could be established, the problem would be almost solved.

This working from "early morn till dewy eve" may be satisfactory to father, but how about his restless, growing son?

It has a tendency, a strong tendency, to drive young men away from the farms. They see the city where it is not all work and no play and where they often find, not only innocent amusements, but also vicious ones.

We all admit the truth of the saying that our smartest city men are country-bred. And why? The ideal conditions under which their impressionable ears are passed!

Life at best is short and it isn't fair to put a man's load on a growing boy's back. It's only natural that sooner or later they'll resent it in a way that may be drastic. What kind of citizens can a family raise that continually hold in the slogan "Hurry, Hurry, Work" before youthful eyes. Hope deferred makes the heart sick, we are told. This especially applies to our young people who will work eagerly, humbly, willingly all the day if a little pleasure looms ahead. This is only natural.

A youngster (yes, an "oldster" too) turns toward recreation as the flower turns toward the sun.

Rural life must be made popular. How? By the farmers themselves, by asserting themselves in social and public affairs. Other people appreciate us just as much as we appreciate ourselves.

If some farmers allow their civic pride to be trampled out of them, at least let them give their young people a chance. A chance of an education, a chance of life, social as well as otherwise.

Let them take a chance themselves by deciding that their calling is secondary in importance to none and by putting as much brains and scientific work and management into the running of their farms as their city brother puts in to the running of his factory.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

REGARD the discovery of a new dish as a far more interesting event than the discovery of a star; for we have always stars enough, but we can never have too many dishes.

—Brillat-Savarin.

INFORMAL COMPANY SUPPER.

The chafing dish is the never failing resort for the hot dish for an evening supper, and everything else may be prepared beforehand, unless one likes to make the salad and dressing at the table. The materials may be all ready and the process of blending them and the making of French dressing is usually a form of entertainment enjoyed by both men and women. In fact, many men are especially clever at and enjoy making salads.

The sandwiches may be prepared by cutting a slice from each end of the loaf and then cut off the side crusts and bottom and top; now slice the bread lengthwise in five or six slices of uniform thickness, spread with creamed butter and put together in the form of the original loaf. Wrap in a dampened cloth and place under a weight until the time for serving, then the loaf may be cut in slices, and in halves crosswise. Arrange on a dolly-covered plate to serve.

A most delicious salad dressing is creamed butter well blended with two canned red peppers pounded to a paste. Another nice sandwich to serve with cold roast lamb. Finely chopped mint mixed with creamed butter makes another appetizing sandwich.

Eggs a la Creole.—This is a dish very popular with the men. Chop two or three tablespoonfuls of dried beef freed from the skin and fat, add a cupful of tomatoes, a fourth of a cupful of milk, grated cheese, a dash of cinnamon and cayenne and a few drops of onion juice. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add the mixture, and when well heated add four eggs slightly beaten. Cook until of a creamy consistency, stirring constantly, and scraping from the sides and bottom of the pan.

Hot potato salad is a most enjoyable dish when accompanied by cold meat. Cut six medium sized potatoes in slices, sprinkle with salt and pepper; add a cup of chopped celery and a tablespoonful of finely minced parsley. Mix together two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and four of oil and a slice of lemon; bring to the boiling point and turn over the potatoes. A bit of onion added, if the flavor is enjoyed, improves the salad.

Holiday Lunch Basket.

There is no end to the good things one can have already prepared for a summer holiday, such as sweet or sour pickles, ripe or stuffed olives, deviled ham, chicken, roast beef, lamb, cold tongue, all kinds of cheeses, lunch cheese, deviled cheese, Swiss, pimento and many others—baked beans, veal loaf, baked macaroni or spaghetti and cheese, all kinds of cakes, breads and rolls; ginger ale, birch beer, root beer, wild cherry, grape juice, pineapple juice, lime and lemon juice.

Surely, with some of the above all in readiness and others which may be prepared the day before the holiday, the luncheon and supper should not be hard meals to get. There is one thing which will lighten the work almost more than the cooking and that is using paper tablecloths, towels, napkins, paraffin paper, drinking cups and paper plates.

Scratched It So Hard All Sore. On Hand, Then or Legs. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured in Six Weeks.

745 Congress St., Chicago, Ill.—"My eczema broke out in water blisters. Each one was full of water and would not until I would scratch it open, then the water would run out and it would get sore. I first got the eczema on the back of the hand and I scratched it so hard I made it all sore. Then I got it on my legs just above the ankle and above the knee. "I used what they call and it stopped the itch but it got worse. Then I used Cuticura. I saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper. I wrote for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I tried them and then bought some more. Cuticura Soap and Ointment left my sores nice and smooth. I used them for six weeks, and am now cured; the eczema left no marks." (Signed) P. W. Horrich, Oct. 19, 1912.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. Municipal Affairs Of Vital Interest

ST. PAUL SELLS BONDS IN TEN DOLLAR UNITS

St. Paul, Minn., July 5.—The city of St. Paul put into effect for the first time in the history of American cities a financial scheme devised by the late Tom L. Johnson when he was mayor of Cleveland. It is the selling of city bonds in $10 and its multiples by the sinking fund commission. The plan in execution, as he was always able to sell Cleveland city bonds.

St. Paul is inaugurating the selling of bonds by city lotteries instead of by contract and as a result of a row between property owners, the city and contractors, city bonds were so tied up that banks and brokers refused to take them.

The city then offered at popular subscription. The sale opened at the city hall this morning, with a crowd in line before the sale began at 9:00 o'clock.

Up to noon 556 bond certificates had been issued for $82,000. There was a crush all day about the windows and the success of the plan surprised the commission. A little girl of six bought number one with funds dumped from her savings bank. A man brought $3,000 he had been hoarding in gold at home. Fully half the depositors were women. The success of the sale opens the way to quick and sure financing of any municipal undertaking, regardless of the regular bond market. Bonds will be bought and sold daily as offered and are instantly convertible into cash with accrued interest.

MOLINE MAKES COMPLAINT OF POOR STREET LIGHTING

Moline, Ill.: That Moline is paying for five times the value received from its street lighting system was revealed in Pierre Haynes' report to the city commission at its meeting this morning. Haynes is an expert called to the city by Commissioner Eastman, and he offered a report based on his examination of ten lamps showing that the lights were yielding only about twenty per cent of the amount of light they were supposed to yield.

Measurements were made and the candlepowers of the various lights computed. Mr. Haynes reported that most of the lights were suspended at less distance from the ground than they should be. He stated that the lighting in the immediate vicinity would be materially improved by raising the lights to a height of twenty-five feet. The city commission, however, was without the outer glass globes, and where the globes were not missing, they were so dirty that the lights were sensibly diminished. The inspection, too, was made in rainy weather when the globes would not naturally be dusty.

Moline has 318 arc-lights for each of which the city pays $60 per year. That means that a sum of $19,080 is being yearly expended on street lighting.

By the city's contract, only one-fifth of this amount should be paid. When the fact is considered that the condition may have prevailed for at least twenty years, it seems certain that the city has sunk much cash without adequate return.

NEW SALOON REGULATION SYSTEM AT SISSETON

(Editorial from Sioux City Tribune) The town of Sisseton, South Dakota, in the northeast corner of the state, has devised a novel plan for regulating the saloon business and securing the city a large share of the profits. Under the law Sisseton is entitled to two saloons but has decided to have only one. The man to whom the license is granted will pay double for it and in addition will turn over to the city a large share of the profits. DANCE HALL ORDINANCE ENACTED AT MADISON

By a unanimous vote the common council passed the new dance hall ordinance.

Feature provision of the ordinance follows: All public dance halls must be licensed, the license to be granted by the mayor and expire on the first day of July each year.

Licenses must be posted in conspicuous places in dance halls. License fee is $5.

Halls must comply with all ordinances relating to health and ventilation and fire dangers before licenses are granted.

Licenses will be revoked by the mayor for disorderly and improper conduct.

After 10 p. m. all minors must be excluded from the halls unless accompanied by a parent or guardian.

It is unlawful for minors to represent themselves as being of age and it is also unlawful for persons to represent themselves as parents or guardians when in fact they are not.

All public dances must cease and the hall closed on or before 1 o'clock a. m.

The penalty for violating any of the provisions is not less than $25 nor more than $100.

CALL FOR DESTRUCTION OF COTTONWOOD TREES

(Fond du Lac Reporter) The city of Fond du Lac soon has its bare cottonwood trees as an asphalt pavement is of grass as the result of an ordinance adopted by the common council Friday evening requiring the destruction of all trees of this species growing in the city.

According to the ordinance, the trees are a nuisance, and must be cut down within ten days after the measure goes into effect. The ordinance becomes a law twenty days from this time. If any of these trees remain after the expiration of this period, the owners will be liable to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25.

The council also adopted a new ordinance relating to the trimming of trees which overhang the city streets. According to the measure, the branches of trees must be cut back above the sidewalk fourteen feet above the edges of the street, and at least twenty feet above the pavement if they extend within ten feet of the center of the street. The object of the new ordinance is to prevent the branches from interfering with the street arc lamps.

SEVENTY THOUSAND SPENT TO KEEP CITY SANITARY

(Minneapolis News) Maintenance of the Minneapolis health department, its garbage and ash collection and crematory plant costs the city in the last six months just $71,623.52.

Maintenance of the department of licenses and the regulation of diseases and vital statistics cost $26,948.43 in the last six months.

July 1. Garbage collection cost $31,857.69. Maintenance of the crematory plant, including coal purchases, cost $19,326.56. Two thousand dollars was expended for transporting garbage tanks from shipping station to crematory.

The crematory plant furnished the power and heat, netting the city $14,000.

As the city's appropriation, less the deficit of last year amounts to $141,731.15, there is still $70,108.63 on hand for the next six months, indicating that the department may escape a deficit under Dr. Dutton's management.

WOULD RESTRICT CARS DURING FIRE RUNS (State Journal.)

To avoid possible injury while the fire department is making a run to a blaze Fire Chief Heyl has asked City Attorney Ryan to draw up an ordinance which would compel street cars to slow up while being passed by fire engines or hose carts. The chief asserts that motormen have in the past tried to race with the wagons.

He also cited instances where the efficiency of the department has been ruined by carelessness of street car employees. In one instance, the chief said, a car ran over and cut into a cable line of the local office, and the cable line was forced to settle with the city for injury sustained by a horse and hose cart last winter. Mr. Ryan stated that he would consider submitting an ordinance to the city council.

REMOVE TELEGRAPH POLES FROM STREET IN DIXON

Dixon, Ill.: The Western Union Telegraph company's cable gang which has been in Dixon several days today completed connecting the new cable line with the local office, and the cable line and poles in Galena avenue from the bridge to the company's old office, will be razed at once. The new cable line is carried on River street and thence south on Hennepin to the alley on the rear of the new office. The removal of the telegraph poles on Galena avenue will eliminate every pole on that street with the exception of the trolley poles.

(La Crosse Tribune) The largest check ever drawn to transfer the receipts of municipal court to the city treasury for any one quarter since Judge Cronin's inauguration, was held by the city today, coming to the amount of $1,000.

The check which represents the receipts of the municipal court for the quarter ending June 30, was for $998.20. Judge Cronin said that the increase in city revenue was caused by the police campaign against speeders.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

KOSCIUSKO.

By Howard L. Rann.

Thaddeus Kosciuszko was a Polish patriot who lacked the Russian bearing of the heroes several times with a handful of men, but who finally ran out of a standing army and had to give up. If there had been about two more Kosciuskos in Poland at that time, the chances are that the aforesaid bear would have lost one of its valuable dependents and most of its claws.

Kosciuszko was born in Warsaw, which at that time was producing a very durable grade of misery and patriotism, in 1746. His family was noble but hard up, and after taking a military course he came to America and hired out to G. Washington, who was loaded up on brigades generally but was short on privates. Kosciuszko served the young republic with great gallantry, and in his spare moments designed the fortifications of Bemis Heights, which General Burgoyne assailed with great fluency but was unable to approach. At the close of our debate with England Kosciuszko returned to his native country and found a very low order of Russian infantry camped on the neck of Poland and disinclined to move. Kosciuszko did not waste any time getting up a petition or asking for a writ of habeas corpus, but attacked the Russian army with a branch of the Polish militia and caused it to back water in several spots. It was nothing uncommon for Kosciuszko to sail out with a few men who were strangers to fear and a half-cut and open a wide lane in the invaders' left flank.

This could not last, however, and finally Russia conquered everything but the Polish valor and Kosciuszko was thrown into a dungeon, where he remained for two years, saddened by bitter memories and the scarlet fever. On being released, he again visited his country, where he could see freedom sitting around on the dry goods boxes and cussing Schedule K.

Kosciuszko passed his declining years in France, and died in 1817, being thrown from a horse unintentionally. He was one of the purest patriots in history, assaying fully 98 per cent in the clear, and his memory is cherished by all who distinguish patriotism from publicity.

Look At The Trade Mark

Did you ever have a merchant tell you, "This cabinet is better than the Hoosier?" They do it—often.

You see, only one merchant in a town can sell the Hoosier Cabinet. The price is fixed at the factory. Every other merchant knows what it is.

A lot of cabinet factories sell their entire output to merchants who would rather have the Hoosier if they could. These merchants have to sell some kind of kitchen cabinet. It is not necessary for these other makers to be particular about quality if they meet the price.

Many of them are not particular.

It is not the other merchant's fault. He would sell you a better cabinet than the Hoosier if he could get it. He can't.

To protect yourself, see that the Hoosier trade mark is on your kitchen cabinet.
